WHY CHARITIES NEED FEE-ONLY LIFE INSURANCE ADVICE.

Let's face it. While life insurance is a key element in the financial plans of many charities and their supporters, it is very confusing. It takes hours of time and an insider's knowledge to sift through policy projections and conflicting claims about companies and performance statistics. You can get advice from commissioned agents, but it is inevitably biased toward the products they sell.

When purchased and monitored with careful oversight, life insurance is a highly attractive charitable investment. But mistakes are common and costly - sometimes disastrously so. Charities and their contributors frequently pay 5 times the commission they should and miss out on millions of dollars in death benefits and cash value. Or worse, they're stuck with poorly performing policies that may collapse before the policyholders die.

A modest investment in the impartial advice of a fee-only consultant can return impressive rewards. Life Insurance Advisors, Inc., can help your organization save millions of dollars. Just as importantly, we can help you determine whether financial plans based on the illustrated performance of life insurance policies are realistic or need to be modified in some way.

CALL ON LIFE INSURANCE ADVISORS, INC. BEFORE YOU PURCHASE NEW POLICIES.

Get answers to the following important questions:

- What is the right type of policy for a given objective?
- From what company or companies should we seek insurance based on company financial strength ratings and historic performance and in light of health and related underwriting factors of the proposed insured?
- How can we pay the lowest commissions on the best products from the most respected companies? (Our advice has enabled clients to reduce commissions by 80% or more on products from the highest-rated companies and to increase returns by 50% or more. See some sample cases on our web site.)
- Are the assumptions that underlie the illustrations of insurance policies credible in light of the company's past performance?
- Are these assumptions reasonable in comparison to the standards of one or more leading life insurance companies?
- How might certain health conditions or other factors affect the ability to obtain insurance at favorable rates?

WHEN EXISTING INSURANCE POLICIES SHOULD BE REVIEWED, ASK LIFE INSURANCE ADVISORS TO:

- Provide an objective review of the policies' past performance and future projections
- Determine whether current premium payments will sustain the policies over the insureds' possible life spans
- Suggest whether policy performance is acceptable in light of possible alternatives
- Recommend action to take on the policies...whether to continue them, modify them, replace them, surrender them, or, in some cases, to sell them. In cases of replacement, we will minimize commissions and other costs incurred in policy exchanges
- Provide valuations of policies received as donations.
